

Knoxville Weekly Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 21, 1870.

SPECIMEN COPIES

Of the Chronicle mailed free to any address on application.

Wanted.

Several Farms for rent. See 10-dw-11.

Died.

On Wednesday, the 14th instant, Mrs. Elizabeth Doyle, of this county, in the 44th year of her age.

Robbery.

The Chattanooga Times says that a stranger was robbed at the Union depot in that city, on Friday, of $1,400.

Mountain Courts.

Chancellor Temple left yesterday for Morgan, Fentress and Scott counties, where he holds Chancery Courts in course, in the order named.

Married.

On the 20th ult., at the residence of the bride's mother, in Anderson county, by Rev. James Young, Mr. J. D. BENNETT to Miss Josie R. OWEN.

Murder in Memphis.

Ada Jones was murdered in Memphis last Sunday, by N. Van Roberts. The murderer seized the corpse when he was brought into the room where it was lying.

The Streets.

The stone wall near the culvert on Patton street, in East Knoxville has sprung badly, and is liable to fall down at any time. A fill is being made on Patton street, which has been long needed.

Spot Him.

We find the following among the rounds of the press, and ask our friends to help us spot the man. He isn't in this office, we know: "In Knoxville an irate citizen assaulted an editor, but the latter flung the paste pot at him and put out his eye."

Valuable Remedy.

Dr. Gloucester offers to the afflicted a liniment which is recommended as being very efficacious in cases of pain or disease where external applications are necessary. Dr. G.'s place of business is on Union street, opposite Alderman Swan's residence.

Marriage Licenses.

The following are the marriage licenses issued during the past week.

A. C. Hall and Mary Karna. Bedford Harper and Ida Stephenson. A. W. Edington and Ruth A. Gamble. Wm. Hatcher and Susan E. Sharp.

Execution at Harrison.

Audrey Williams, alias Heard, was hung at Harrison, in Hamilton county, on Friday, for the murder of Deutscher. He took the matter coolly and died with resignation. The crowd behaved very badly, and many heartless remarks were indulged in.

Killed.

A short time since a little boy, the son of Mr. Neil Mays, living in Greene county, was found dead near a barn. It is supposed the little fellow had bridled a wild horse, mounted it, and being thrown violently to the ground, he was in this way killed. The horse, with his bridle on, was standing at the bar.

The Holidays.

The business part of the community would do well to consult their own interests by a liberal use of printer's ink during the holidays, if they wish to reap any of the benefits arising from that trade. The buyers read the papers, and go where they are told the best bargains can be obtained.

Merschaum Pipe.

We were the recipient, on yesterday, of a handsome merschaum pipe, presented by our clever friend, Capt. J. B. Walley, of the City Tobacco Store, who has many more of the same and different kinds, which he sells remarkably cheap. His stock is always kept full and persons using the weed in any form, or desiring smokers' goods of any kind can always procure what they want from Capt. Walley.

Jefferson on City Items.

The Chancery and Circuit Courts are both in session at Dandridge, presided over respectively by Chancellor Smith and Judge Randolph.

David R. N. Blackburn, Esq., has been appointed and qualified as Clerk and Master. This is a most acceptable and judicious choice for this important office.

During the revival meeting held at the Baptist Church in Dandridge, and which closed last week, over forty converts were baptized and upwards of fifty persons united with that Church.

A Morristown Establishment.

The business of pork packing is carried on to a considerable extent in Morristown. Says the Gazette of that place, in alluding to the establishment of P. Smith &amp; Co.: "Their large warehouse is used for cutting up and salting down, and the first floor is now filled with one solid mass of hog meat. Theirlard department is well arranged, and a large furnace containing six or eight large kettles is kept constantly going. The lard when rendered, is strained through a burley and two white flannel strainers and goes into the cans as pure as snow."

City Hospital.

The meeting of citizens of the night of the 1st instant was productive of nothing else, it has at least developed a fact that was known to comparatively few of our citizens—that there was a city hospital fund, with land appropriated suitable for a building site. Although the land is in litigation, yet it is hoped and expected by the friends of this benevolent institution that it will be awarded in aid of the object for which it was devised by the noble-hearted donor. The money is in the hands of responsible gentlemen who are only awaiting a favorable termination of the suit to begin putting up suitable buildings.

Encourage the Good Work.

We trust our readers will occasionally drop in on the free night school at the old Methodist Church, on Church street, and see the good work Mr. Harris and his assistants are doing. Any man who after seeing the interest manifested by the little boys there gathered can find it in his heart to refuse them and all others the privilege of attending such schools day and night, month after month, must indeed be selfish and miserly. This night school is the beginning of a great and good work, and deserves the encouragement of every good citizen. A call of a few moments will encourage the teachers and boys, and will cost but a few moments time.

HOME INDUSTRY.

Furniture Establishment of A. G. Scott &amp; Co.

Of all manufactures, there are few more indispensably necessary to all classes than that of household furniture, as all are patrons of such to greater or less extent.

We yesterday visited the establishment of Messrs. A. G. Scott &amp; Co., who have succeeded Mr. Renshaw in the proprietorship of the old and well known furniture depot, on Gay street. There we saw every article of utility and ornament in the furniture line, parlor and chamber sets, embracing elegantly upholstered sofas, chairs, divans, rocking chairs, and those of plainer and less expensive workmanship.

Bedsteads, also, in endless variety, from the popular cottage to those of mahogany and walnut, of more fashionable pretensions.

Bureaus, wardrobes hat trunks, towel racks, centre, dining and extension tables, the latter of which can be made sixteen feet in length; cribs and chairs for infants, and in fact everything and anything wanted in a house. These gentlemen have many articles of furniture suitable for Christmas presents, ladies' rocking and sewing chairs, marble-top centre-tables, whatnots, side and corner, &amp;c. &amp;c. Special attention is given to the manufacture of mattresses and springbeds, and they are prepared to make any style, cotton, duck, moss and sponge.

Messrs. Scott and Hacker are fair-dealing gentlemen and sell their goods at reasonable prices, and we bespeak for them a continuance of the patronage their house has so long enjoyed. They advertise in this paper, and customers know where to get bargains. See their card in another column of this paper.

Thieves Outwitted.

On Wednesday morning, on the early train from Chattanooga were many passengers, among whom were an old man and his wife, who were "spotted" by three of the light-fingered gentry as having a good deal of money, which they resolved to obtain. Accordingly, two of the scoundrels posted themselves on the platform as the train was moving off, and sent the other to request the old gentleman to stop outside, as the "conductor" wished to see him.

Not suspecting anything wrong, he complied with the request, when he was at once seized and his mouth muffled, while his pockets were searched with a celerity and thoroughness acquired only by gentlemen of the profession. The thieves secured a well filled purse, when they released their victim, jumped off the train and disappeared. The old man quietly re-entered the car and took his seat, and after consulting the intelligence of the robbery, resumed to relax it as a capital joke. This his fellow-passengers could not understand until the "victim" explained that the "bitter" were bitten, the purse stolen not having contained any money, but was a blind to protect himself from such rascals.

There ought to be a policeman or two at the depot on the arrival and departure of trains, to protect passengers from being preyed on by pickpockets.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following are the transfers of real estate registered in the office of the County Court Clerk during the past week:

R. E. Cox to Rees Gwillim, tract of land in Knox county, $3,250.

R. G. Stanley to John M. Stanley, tract of land in Knox county, $800.

Joseph A. Mabry to Suanah Roberis, tract of land in Knox county, $250.

Alex. Kennedy, et ux, to Victor Burger, lot in Knoxville, $800.

D. A. Denderick, C. &amp; M., to Thos. A. Smith, lot in Knoxville, $500.

S. P. Evans, U. S. M., to H. E. A. R. Brock, lot in Knoxville, $200.

J. S. Conner, et ux, J. W. Luttrell, tract of land in Knox county, $1,200.

Died of His Injuries.

Yesterday morning, Mr. W. H. Parker died from the effects of the injuries received on the 18th ult., breathing his last between the hours of eleven and twelve.

Mr. Parker, it will be remembered, was crushed under a mill race which fell at Mr. Atkin's saw and blind factory, breaking his back, and paralyzing his lower limbs. Mortification set in some time ago, but having a good constitution the destroyer was kept at bay until a vital part was attacked.

His remains were placed in a metallic coffin, and will be taken to the family burying ground, about six miles from the city, for interment this morning.

Mr. Parker was a sober, industrious man, and respected by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and several children.

December.

DISEASED LUNGS ARE GREATLY OF AN INCREASE IN THIS COUNTY.—The sudden changing of the weather has done much to give rise to Consumption. But there are thousands of cases who bring it on by their own imprudence—such as wearing damp clothing, and going from the warm room into the cold air, and checking the perspiration, which causes irritation of the Lungs, and then matter or phlegm will collect, which nature will try to relieve by coughing it up, to prevent pneumonia from forming. If nature does not raise the matter with ease, and stop this inflammation, tubercles will soon form, and Consumption will soon follow. Allen's Lung Balsam will cure and prevent thousands of cases of Consumption if it is only taken in time.

Our Weekly.

If our business men want to reach the people of East Tennessee they cannot find a better medium for doing so than through the WEEKLY CHRONICLE. It circulates largely in every county, and is the favorite family paper of this section of the State. We print a large issue this evening—one of our very best numbers. Advertisements handed in this morning will be inserted.

Pensioners.

At the close of the last fiscal year there were 198,090 names on the pension roll. There was paid to these persons last year over $27,000,000. This money generally goes to indigent families, to relieve their wants and distress, doing more good than perhaps the same amount of money could if raised in any other way.

The Howe Sewing Machine.

Everywhere will be found the Howe Sewing Machine advertisement. This is the oldest and one of the most reliable machines made. It has stood the test of years, and has received many valuable improvements. Those wanting a number one Sewing Machine, will do well to read the advertisement, and examine the Howe Machine before purchasing.

HOMICIDE IN BLOUNT COUNTY.

Whisky Maddens one Friend to Kill Another.

Through a subscriber to the CHRONICLE from Blount county, we have heard the particulars of another unfortunate killing, which took place on Wednesday night after dark, in Tusculum Cove. The circumstances, as near as we can learn, are as follows:

Mr. Levator Wear, late a Lieutenant in the 3d Tennessee Cavalry, U. S. V., had been to Maryville on Wednesday and imbibed pretty freely of whisky before starting home. He reached his house in the Cove about dark, and at once began abusing his wife, or treating her rather harsher than proper. Mr. Murphy, who had been in Wear's employ all summer, building a house, was in the room, and interposed in behalf of Mrs. Wear, who is represented as a very worthy lady. This interference provoked Wear very much, and, maddened by liquor, he seized a billet of wood near by and struck Murphy a fearful blow over the head, knocking him senseless to the floor. The fight at what he had done sobered Wear, and he at once started for a doctor and did all he could to relieve the sufferer. Medical attendance arrived, but it was soon evident nothing could be done. Murphy survived until morning, when he died.

The affair has produced a decided sensation in the Cove. Murphy was a middle-aged man, highly respected, and he and Wear had always been good friends. Whisky was unquestionably the cause of it all.

Wear has not yet been arrested, and we learn has gone into the mountains.

A Better Tonic than Quinine.

Calisaya bark of the prime quality is a prominent ingredient of Plantation Bitters. With it are combined the juices and extracts of a variety of aperient, anti-bilious, anti-spasmodic and antiseptic vegetable substances, and these properties are conserved and rendered diffusible by the pure spirit of the sugar cane—the most genial and harmless of all stimulants; but this inestimable bark is, after all, the most important medicinal agent contained in the Bitters.

In the various complaints for which quinine is prescribed, Plantation Bitters may be given with the certainty of producing all the good effects claimed by the faculty to result from the use of that dangerous alkaloid, without the fear of any subsequent evil consequences. The entire harmlessness of the Bitters is guaranteed; the testimony on this point, from the highest sources, being conclusive.

Negro Man Shot and Killed.

On Tuesday morning two negro men, Wash Fulton and Pross Riley, both of whom live in Morristown, had a difficulty, which resulted in Fulton being shot and instantly killed by Riley.

It is said that the two had started "out of the corporation" to settle their difficulty by a fight, and upon reaching a negro cabin, near the track of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, just south of the Gazette office, and where Riley boards, he ran off from Fulton and started into the cabin, from which he soon emerged with a gun—an old army musket—and telling Fulton not to come any nearer to him or he would shoot him, and as Fulton approached to within a few steps of him, Riley fired, the whole charge of buckshot taking effect in the breast, abdomen and thighs of Fulton, who fell and almost immediately expired. Riley was promptly arrested by Constable Sam Farrow, and taken before Esquire Hamblen, and a preliminary examination of the prisoner is being had as we go to press.—Morristown Gazette, Dec. 14th.

A Great Economy.

The painters of this city after a fair trial are satisfied that Stone &amp; Schults Patent Filler is all that is claimed for it by the manufacturers. It will prepare any surface either wood, iron or steel for paint, and present a better surface than can be made by any other way. It is equal to shellac, and is not one-third as costly. It will with one coat of shellac over a knot completely seal the knot, and will fill the grain of the softest wood so that paint will stand out on one coat.

It has been tried in some of the largest establishments in the country. Our own experienced painters and furniture men endorse it fully. We have never carried any material which gives a thorough test as in every case it has sustained itself. It is a saving of 50 per cent. in material and in labor.

Messrs. Chamberlain &amp; Albee are now the sole agents for this Filler, in East Tennessee, and can supply the trade at the lowest rates. A large lot just received in store.

Looking to East Tennessee.

Sincerely a week passes but our city is visited by gentlemen of means from the North and elsewhere, attracted thither by the manifold advantages offered in our highly favored section.

Two gentlemen from the State of New York are now at the Atkin House, and have been prospecting in the country with a view of investing in landed estate, we are told. These are Messrs. Geo. H. Ellwanger, of Rochester, and H. T. Brooks, of Wyoming county. One of our prominent land owners called on them yesterday, with an eye to business, we presume. There are many valuable farms throughout East Tennessee which would readily find purchasers if the owners would only make their location known.

A Train of Misfortunes.

Our friend E. S. Doyle, who lives in the 14th civil district of Knox county, has been peculiarly afflicted within the past few weeks.

On the 1st of October one of his children, aged eleven years, while gathering grapes, fell from a tree and fractured her leg, and last Wednesday another one of his children, seven years old, was run over by a horse and several ribs broken, and to crown his afflictions his wife was taken away by the ruthless hand of death.

The Indictments of Judge Butler.

The dispatches from Washington have made frequent mention of the charges and indictments against Judge Butler, of the First Congressional District. We have published them as items of news, just as we publish all other dispatches. Now that the indictments have been preferred, and Mr. Butler arrested, we find many different stories circulated, all purporting to give the facts of the case. As the cases are to be tried, we advise our readers not to pass judgment until the investigation is ended. Judge Butler has said in Congress that he had full proof to disprove all the allegations, and he is entitled to at least a suspension of popular judgment until he has an opportunity for vindication.

We give the following version of the cases from the New York Herald, as giving the points upon which the Government base their charges. We hope, for the cause of justice and fair dealing, that the investigation may be full and fair to all concerned:

INDICTMENT OF CONGRESSMAN R. R. BUTLER FOR FORGERY.

It will be remembered that during last summer there was considerable commotion and comment over the alleged charge that a Congressman, R. R. Butler, from Tennessee, had forged certain checks issued in payment of pensions to some of the residents of his district, and of which he was the custodian. Since that time the authorities have been busily engaged in preparing the testimony in the case, and today the Grand Jury of the Criminal Court of this District brought in two indictments, the first charging R. R. Butler, of Tennessee, with having forged the name of Barthemy Farnum, widow of a Union soldier belonging to the Thirteenth Tennessee cavalry, upon a check drawn by C. Dewey, President of the Raleigh National Bank, in favor of said widow, for the sum of $473, being the arrears of pension to the 4th day of September, 1869. The check bears date October 25, 1869, and was never seen by Mrs. Farnum, but was purchased by C. H. Belvin, Pension Agent for North Carolina, and sent by him, on October 26, 1869, to Mr. Butler, in Washington, by his (Butler's) instructions. The check was negotiated by Butler at the bank of Jay Cooke &amp; Co., October 29, 1869. The indictment contained six counts—the first charging Butler with having forged the endorsement with intent to defraud Mrs. Farnum; the second, with intent to defraud Jay Cooke &amp; Co.; the third, with intent to defraud the United States. The other three charge him with having uttered the check, with the forged endorsements thereon, with intent to defraud, as specified in the first three counts. The second indictment contains a similar number of counts, and is the same in every particular, except that the name of Rebecca J. Maddron is alleged to have been forged.

"The Light in the East."

The above is the title of an orthodox religious work, by the author of Pleasantwood's life of Christ. It is a handsome octavo volume of 850 pages, illustrated by 200 fine engravings. This work has received the most unqualified endorsement of the most eminent divines in Europe and America. It is sold by subscription only. Mr. Alexander Bird is the agent for Knoxville county. No better book for a Christmas present could be made than a copy of this work.

In Memoriam.

WILLIAM T. HARRIS died at Dandridge, on the 16th of November, 1870, aged 80 years.

A family circle, eminent for its purity and the mutual confidence and affection of its members, has been broken; and, with that beautiful love and generosity which great afflictions generate, to the departed is accorded the position of the brightest ornament of the household. The deceased was a young man of splendid natural talents, which he had regulated and adorned by a refined culture. In every relation, his conduct was without exception and his influence was at once elevating and cheering. He was possessed of good business capacity, and circumstances seemed to invite him to an active business life; but, with a firm disregard of riches for their own sake, and without that love of money which is the universal root of evil in our age, he several years ago withdrew from close business pursuits. About the same time, he married the daughter of Col. Geo. M. Elliott, of Jefferson county, to whom he was devotedly attached. She has now to mourn the loss of one to whom none was more true and affectionate, and one who never spoke an unkind word to his wife. At home, the deceased sought and found that quiet and purity which are strangers to the world. He supplied himself bountifully with the best selected books, which he read with avidity and with care—storing his vigorous mind with useful and congenial knowledge. As a member of the society in which he moved, he was the favorite alike of all ages. To his parents, he was unspeakably dear, and to his brother he leaves a bright example. His last sickness came suddenly upon him, and though his friends hoped for his recovery, he calmly, and from the first attack, looked up on his end as near at hand. As his health wasted away, "Religion with uplifted finger" visited the house of death and made her dwelling there. The lofty hopes of an opening manhood were implicitly confided to "Him who doeth all things well;" the strongest love and aspirations of the young husband and father were all in harmony with the Divine purposes; the Christian's faith at the very sight and sound of the dark river, in perfect resignation, broke out—

"I would not live always, I ask not to stay, When the storm after storm."

This happy, peaceful and triumphant wail the departure of our friend. His memory shall always be green in our hearts, and as affliction's silent tear drops upon his grave, we are greeted by the hope of a meeting where "this mortal shall put on immortality" and where "death is swallowed up in victory." AMEN.

Died.

Mr. Richard D. Collins, the engineer who was injured by the explosion on last Saturday morning, died yesterday morning from the effects of his injuries, aged 28 years and five months. He was buried yesterday afternoon at Gray Cemetery.

The deceased was a Federal soldier during the war and served in the 8th Regiment of Tennessee Cavalry.

THE CHRONICLE FOR 1871

A NEW FEATURE.

Facts about East Tennessee!!

Interesting to Immigrants.

FOSTERING HOME INTERESTS.

We propose to begin, on or about the 1st of January next, the publication of a series of articles on the Climate, Soil, Productions, Minerals, Resources and General Attractions offered by East Tennessee to Immigrants. These articles will give facts and figures, compiled with great care, and the object of their publication is to furnish general information to the great and growing class of men scattered all over the Northern States who are now, and have been for some time, looking towards East Tennessee as a place where, if sufficient attractions were presented, they might be induced to locate. The great need of such information has been realized by us after an extended trip North and East, and we hope by this means to be able to give circulation to facts concerning our greatly favored section which, if once understood, will certainly draw to our doors a part at least of the great tide of immigrants that yearly add to the population and wealth of the mighty North-West. That a general diffusion of such information will result in great good to us there can be no possible doubt, for we have in our genial climate and great natural advantages the very attractions desired by so many. The facts, if once understood, are all we need. While the growing States of the West are constant in their efforts to attract the immigrant, we are content to sit quietly by and see the tide sweep unceasingly past, ever enriching and strengthening those who put their hands toward it.

Believing that through such means more than any other our future growth is to be secured, we have determined to direct our efforts in the channel named, and promise to make them as thorough and efficient as possible. It will be our aim to publish as much as two columns of such information in every issue of our WEEKLY. A portion of this space, and some additional to the two columns when necessary, will be devoted to giving answers to all interrogatories propounded by correspondents touching the points of interest to immigrants. In this way we hope to awaken an interest in this subject among our own people, and be the means of attracting attention to what we believe to be our unsurpassed resources and advantages.

To aid in this good work we hope to have the co-operation of all our citizens, and shall be glad to have from them communications giving facts and figures pertinent to the object in view of any such aid will be fully appreciated and used to the best advantage possible. Any meteorological tables, facts about crops, minerals, timber, stock, lands, &amp;c., will be especially useful and acceptable. All such facts will be compiled and presented systematically, in the most attractive way.

The work is one of benefit to the public generally, and we hope to be aided in every practicable way in its prosecution.

NEW FIRM.

Wholesale and Retail Drug House.

Messrs. T. J. Heald and E. C. Locke have formed a partnership for the purpose of conducting a wholesale and retail drug and chemical establishment, under the firm name of Heald &amp; Locke.

They occupy the second and third floors of the building occupied by Messrs. O. B. Smith &amp; Co., as a book store, where they have on hand a large stock of Drugs, Chemicals, Oils, &amp;c., which they sell in quantities to suit purchasers. They have erected a fire-proof building in the rear of their house, in which are stored their oils, glass and other heavy goods, while the main building occupied by them is filled with paints, glass, chemicals, and everything found in a first class Drug House.

Their stock of wall paper is one of the largest and most complete ever brought to this market, embracing the latest styles and best assortment.

These gentlemen have set out with the determination to sell none but first-class goods. Their stock is bought from old established houses by Mr. T. J. Heald, the senior member of the firm, who has had many years experience in the drug business and is thoroughly acquainted with all its details. Until recently he was connected with the firm of E. J. Sanford &amp; Co., and is widely and favorably known throughout East Tennessee.

Mr. Locke has been for many years doing business in Knoxville, more lately as a commission merchant, and is known as a man of strict integrity and fair dealing.

Commencing business under the most favorable circumstances, with a large capital and untiring energy, they deserve, and are destined to obtain a large share of the trade of this section of this country.

Merchants, dealers and others purchasing goods from these gentlemen, can obtain as favorable terms as from any other house, and may confidently rely on getting the very best articles of the kind to be obtained anywhere.

Knoxville and Macon Railroad.

Col. W. K. De Graffenreid, President of the Macon and Knoxville Railroad, is in Nashville for the purpose of obtaining a charter authorizing him to extend his road from the Tennessee line to Knoxville. The road will probably strike the line of our State in Polk county and pass on through that county, a portion of Meigs, Monroe, Loudon and Knox. Our people should do all in their power to encourage such an enterprise. We commend it to the notice of our Board of Trade.

Michael Lochine was taken from jail at Los Angeles, Cal., last week, and hanged.
